FAMILY AVOIDS SERIOUS SICKNESS

By Being Constantly Supplied With Theford's Black-Draught.

McDuff, Va.—"I suffered for several years," says Mrs. J. B. Whitaker, of this place, "with sick headache, and stomach trouble."

Ten years ago a friend told me to try Theford's Black-Draught, which I did, and I found it to be the best family medicine for young and old.

I keep Black-Draught on hand all the time now, and when my children feel a little bad, they ask me for a dose, and it does them more good than any medicine they ever tried.

We never have a long spell of sickness in our family, since we commenced using Black-Draught.

Theford's Black-Draught is purely vegetable, and has been found to regulate weak stomachs, aid digestion, relieve indigestion, colic, wind, nausea, headache, sick stomach, and similar symptoms.

It has been in constant use for more than 70 years, and has benefited more than a million people.

Your druggist sells and recommends Black-Draught. Price only 25c. Get a package to-day.

FOUR FAT YEARS FOR "POOR KIN" OF DEMOCRATS

Republicans at Washington Amplify Hughes Attack on "Raiders."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Mr. Hughes's criticism of the administration's raids on the civil service and upon the character of its appointments is to be amplified by other Republican orators during the next few weeks, when they take up for discussion the "poor relations" of the Democracy.

The Republican politicians allege that never in the history of this country has nepotism been so rampant as under the present administration. One senator, after making a hasty survey of the situation, has given out a partial list of relatives of prominent Democrats who hold good appointive jobs. This senator contends that these were appointed, not on merit, but through "pull."

Bryan Appoints Son. His list begins with the cabinet. When William J. Bryan was secretary of state he had his son appointed to a position in the department of justice and his son-in-law to a position in the treasury department.

Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, the president's son-in-law, on coming to Washington put two of his sons on the government pay roll at fat salaries, one in the department of justice and the other in the department of commerce.

Daniel's Brotherly Act. Secretary of the Navy Daniels turned to the department of justice for a place for his brother. Daniel C. Roper, who resigned only two weeks ago as first assistant postmaster general, at one time had three members of his family on the pay roll.

U. Grant Smith was private secretary to William C. Redfield when Redfield was a congressman from New York. U. Grant Smith is now private secretary to Secretary of Commerce Redfield, which is considered reasonable. But Smith keeps his family well supplied with government jobs. He has one son on the house rolls as a page and a son-in-law as a special agent of the department of commerce. Until recently his brother-in-law had a position with the federal trade commission.

Clark's Boy Is "In." Turning to Democrats in Congress, Speaker Clark's son, still in his twenties, holds the $4,000 position of parliamentary clerk. Young Clark obtained this position before he finished his law studies. He was elected by the Democratic majority, but the critical Republicans believe he would not have been selected but for the fact his father is speaker and wanted him chosen.

Turning to the Senate, Vice President Marshall escapes criticism, but numerous Democratic senators have taken care of their relatives. Senator overman of North Carolina has a son in a $2,500 job and a daughter in a $1,440 job. A brother-in-law of Senator Kern of Indiana has a place in the Senate document room.

Gore's Family Fixed. The wife and brother of Senator Gore of Oklahoma are on the Senate pay roll. A brother of Senator Martin of Virginia is assistant clerk to his committee. A son of Senator Vandamm, of Mississippi, is an assistant clerk to his committee, while a son of Senator Chamberlain of Oregon is a messenger to his father's committee. The son-in-law of Senator Lane of Oregon is his private secretary.

Senator Thompson of Kansas has his son on the roll, and a brother of the late Senator Shively of Indiana only recently lost a position given him by the senator a number of years ago. A cousin of Senator Saulsbury of Delaware was given a political position on the trade commission and later covered into the civil service by the president. A son of Senator Tillman of South Carolina is on the Alaska railroad commission.

The latest job ever held by a relative of a senator is that of collector of the port of New York. Dudley Field Malone, the collector, is a son-in-law of Senator O'Gorman of New York.

Nepotism in the House. As there are more Democrats in the House than in the Senate, there are more relatives of statesmen on rolls there. Illinois has three Democratic congressmen who have provided places for members of their families. Tavenner employs his sister as a stenographer. Stone's brother is a clerk in the House document room, and Sabath's nephew has a similar position.

Indiana Democrats in the House have taken good care of their families. Gray employed his sister as his secretary. Culion has his stepson as his secretary; Cox, the most outspoken of all northern anti-civil service Democrats, has a brother who is a doorkeeper of the House. Morrison's son is his secretary.

South Sets the Pace. The real nepotists of the House, however, are to be found among the southern Democrats. For a time Representative Pou of North Carolina had his son on the pay roll as a clerk to the committee on claims, drawing a salary of $1,600 a year. At the time young Pou was a student in the University of North Carolina. This situation was finally relieved as a result of pressure. Representative Johnson of South Carolina, before he was made a United States district court judge by President Wilson, got most of his family on the pay roll. One of his sons was put in the post-office department, another on the House rolls. A nephew was made clerk to a House committee, and his campaign manager was put on the capitol police force.

Representative Finley of South Carolina has a son who is his secretary and another who is a clerk on the House roll. A daughter is in the government printing office. Representative Aiken of South Carolina, employs his son as his secretary, and has his nephew in the sergeant-at-arms's office.

Clark Gets Three Jobs. Representative Clark of Florida, the leading advocate of public buildings, employs two relatives on his committee at Uncle Sam's expense and obtained a door-keeper's position for his brother.

Representative Padgett, chairman of the naval affairs committee, employs his son as assistant clerk of the committee.

The son of Representative Burnett of Alabama is clerk to the committee on immigration, of which Burnett is chairman.

The son of Representative Carlin of Virginia is a clerk in the House judiciary committee and a student in Georgetown university. A nephew of Representative Shackelford of Missouri is clerk to the committee on roads.

A brother of Representative Lloyd is clerk to Lloyd's committee on accounts, which controls the disbursements of the House. At one time this Missouri statesman had five members of his family on the pay roll. His brother-in-law is now an assistant doorkeeper of the House.

West Virginia Briefs

FOLLANSBEE: Hundreds of workmen are being rushed in the work of constructing the new million dollar by-product plant north of Follansbee for the LaBelle Iron Works in order that the contractors may complete it by October 1, the contract time limit.

Moundsville: William Gillingham, sentenced to an intermediate term in the state penitentiary here for attempting to kill George Stein, a Baltimore and Ohio railroad clerk at Benwood, has become violently insane and has been taken to the state insane asylum at Weston.

NEW MARTINSVILLE: The annual Wezel county teachers' institute will be held the week beginning August 28 in the high school building here with C. H. Githons, superintendent of the Wheeling schools, and Prof. Francis Shreve, of Fairmont, as the instructors.

MARTINSBURG: Berkeley county Socialists have filed a ticket with the county clerk for the fall election, the nominees being A. Johnson, of Martinsburg, sheriff; J. H. Staples, of Martinsburg, and L. E. Staples, of Bedington, for House of Delegates; M. P. Landis, of Bedington, for county commissioner, and F. S. Ballat, of Martinsburg, for assessor.

PARKERSBURG: Paw-paw Bill, a unique character who derives his sobriquet from the fact that he knows every paw-paw bush within a radius of twenty miles of Parkersburg, has arrived in the city with his first basket of the West Virginia banana, as the succulent paw-paw is called. Every year he is the first to bring the paw-paw to market. This means that the season is about on.

MARTINSBURG: Mrs. Elizabeth White, wife of John W. White, is dead at her home on Dewey avenue of paralysis, aged 68.

CHARLESTON: A certificate of incorporation has been issued by the secretary of state to the Rotary Vending Machine Company, of Fairmont, authorized capital $10,000; incorporators: John W. Martin, F. L. King, P. W. Lange, H. H. Carr, H. V. Graber and J. C. Thompson, all of Fairmont.

PARKERSBURG: Walter A. Snow, of North Dakota, was elected general secretary of the West Virginia Sunday School Association at a meeting of the executive committee here. Mr. Snow succeeds A. T. Arnold, who recently resigned to become secretary of the Ohio Sunday School Association.

CHARLESTON: Three carloads of food have been sent by rail as far as Eskdale, on Cabin creek, for relief of flood sufferers. It will be carried from there by wagon trains. High water has covered the railroad track which runs through a tunnel extending to the Coal river side of the mountain and supplies are being carried through in row boats.

MARTINSBURG: Her work as city police matron has been productive of so much good that Miss Minnie V. Taylor has been appointed probation officer for Berkeley county by Judge J. M. Woods of the circuit court.

CHARLESTON: Charleston wholesalers and jobbers will entertain the retailers of the Kanawha Valley dur-

Cure for Cholera Morbus. "When our little boy, now seven years old, was a baby he was cured of cholera morbus by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy," writes Mrs. Sidney Simmons, Fair Haven, N. Y. "Since then other members of my family have used this valuable medicine for colic and bowel troubles with good satisfaction and I gladly endorse it as a remedy of exceptional merit." Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement

His Wife His Secretary. The wife of Representative Dies of Texas is Dies's secretary. The son-in-law of Representative Candler of Mississippi is his secretary and also has a salary from the House as page. The son of Representative Alexander of Missouri is his secretary, as is the son of Representative Hardy of Texas.

The son of Representative Sparkman of Florida is clerk to his father's committee on rivers and harbors. The brother of Representative Fields of Kentucky is his secretary, and the father is one of the doorkeepers of the House.

The light might be extended ad infinitum, according to the Republicans, if a little time were devoted to it.

A brother of Senator James has been appointed United States marshal in Kentucky; a brother of Congressman Howard has been given a job in the census bureau; the managing editor of Senator Lea's paper down in Tennessee has been given a $3,000 job on one of the innumerable commissions; a brother of former Chairman Davies of the trade commission has been given a job in the department of justice, and the son of Commissioner Parry of the trade commission is his secretary. A nephew of Senator Robinson is on the Senate roll as a doorkeeper.

Senator Fletcher of Florida is understood to have no relatives on the pay roll now, but some months ago when the rural credit commission went abroad it was reported he took several members of his family along with him on the junket at the government's expense, giving them clerkships and other minor jobs.

They're All in on the Drag. And so on, and so on. Pretty nearly every Democrat one runs across in Washington either has some relative on the pay roll or is working to get one there. The Democrats insist there is nothing wrong in their procedure—that the Republicans did it during the sixteen years they were in power. But the Republicans answer back that they aren't doing it now and it's up to the people who pay the bills to say whether it is wrong or not.

ing the Kanawha county fair, to be held here in September, it was said by representatives of the wholesale trade today.

MONTGOMERY: Mrs. Herbert Hamlin is held on a charge of killing her husband, coal miner, employed on Loup creek, this county. The police say the couple quarreled when he sought to attend a dance. Hamlin was shot through the heart when he returned home from the dance.

CHARLESTON: Twenty-five Pythian widows and seventy-five Pythian orphans were cared for at the West Virginia Knights of Pythias home at Parkersburg last year, according to current report of the home board, prepared for presentation at the state convention at Huntington, August 31 and September 1.

HUNTINGTON: Earl E. Dudding, one-time prisoner at the state penitentiary at Moundsville and who, when released four years ago, founded the Prisoners' Relief Society, with headquarters here, refuses to move the headquarters of the society to New York. One of New York's richest women offers $50,000 to the society if Dudding will move the headquarters to the metropolis, but Dudding has spurned the offer.

CHARLESTON: Five new mines will be opened by the Main Island Creek Coal Company, of Logan county, in the Logan coal field, and two miles of railroad will be built, according to plans announced by John Laing, president of the new company.

HUNTINGTON: Roy Rainey has laid off forty-five of the fifty employees at his Conejo farms estate, and strictly quarantined the premises to safeguard his three children from infantile paralysis.

CHARLESTON: During the month of July forty-one corporations operating under the laws of West Virginia were dissolved. This is shown by the report for that month completed by Stuart F. Reed, secretary of state. Two companies changed their names and five changed their location of their places of business. In this month fifty-seven resident corporations were chartered as were eleven non-resident concerns. Eight foreign corporations were authorized to do business in the state.
